

Media FAQ

Media village

This is a hub where media can work and spend downtime. It's an exclusive area for media and speakers only, with food, desks, power cables and an area to relax. There will also be separate interview spaces near the speakers lounge, which can be reserved by media and speakers.

Reserved media desks at stages

Each of the RISE stages will have dedicated hot desks at the front so journalists can file live copy. These desks are allocated on a first-come, first-served basis.

Food and drink

Food and beverages will be provided to media in the media village.

Media page

The media page at riseconf.com/media will be regularly updated throughout the event and we encourage you to visit it to ensure you get the most from RISE.

This page will feature news announcements, press releases from our event partners and from startups attending RISE, along with video and photography from on-stage sessions.

This is a one-stop shop for media at RISE, to find all news about the event, speakers, information about startups, photos of the event, schedules and any other details they may need.

We encourage you to use this to get the most of the event and the best stories.

Official app

The RISE app will help you discover, connect and chat with speakers, investors and attendees at RISE. The app allows you to connect with the right people and maximise your time at the event. It will also be a place for you to view which talks and events are going on and build your schedule.

Flickr

Live photos of the event are free to use and available through our media portal and flickr.com/photos/RISEconf

Interview requests

If you would like to interview any of the speakers during RISE, please email media@riseconf.com or ask any of the RISE media team during the event – the team will do their best to link you up with requested speakers. You can also contact individuals directly via the chat function in the event app.

Interview booths

If you would like to reserve an interview booth during the event, please ask the RISE media team on the ground or email media@riseconf.com.

Social media

The hashtag is #RISEConf. Join the conversation. Be sure to follow us on Twitter, Facebook and YouTube.

Schedule

The schedule is available through the RISE app and on the RISE website.

Night Summit

RISE isn't a 9-5 kind of conference. The networking truly begins after the stages wind down and the speakers, investors, startups and other attendees make their way to the local bars and clubs for our pub crawls and Night Summit.

PITCH

PITCH is our pitching competition, which was named as one of the best startup competitions in the world by Forbes. It is open to any RISE startup that has received under $3 million in funding.

Our top startups will get to present in front of a judging panel of distinguished investors, influential media, and thousands of attendees. They'll battle it out across three days for a chance to present on Centre Stage and be crowned winner of PITCH at RISE 2018.

The opening rounds of PITCH will take place on July 10 and July 11. The semi-final is on the afternoon of July 11 on Center Stage. The PITCH final takes place on Center Stage on July 12.

Technical support

If you require any technical support during the event please contact info@riseconf.com.

Onsite wifi

There will be wifi throughout the venue. The media village will have its own dedicated wifi SSID. There will also be a number of hard wire cables at the work tables in the media village.
